7. Greenhouse Gas Target Rule Advisory Committee......Dan Moore

| Background: | At its May 2015 meeting the Land Conservation and Development Commission (LCDC) completed its review of the Metropolitan Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Targets Rule. LCDC approved the Target Rule Review Report. It also agreed with the department's recommendation that the target rule should be updated to set targets for the year 2040. The commission is establishing a single advisory committee to function as the rulemaking advisory committee for the target rule amendments and to review of the process of metropolitan area transportation planning. The advisory committee would likely include an LCDC commissioner, a commissioner from the Oregon Transportation Commission, staff from the Oregon Department of Transportation, a representative from each metropolitan area, other interest groups, and the general public. |

Presentation Item:

4. ODOT Draft Bicycle and Pedestrian Plan (OBPP)

ODOT representative, Sheila Lyons, presented an overview of the ODOT Draft Bicycle and Pedestrian Modal Plan. Ms. Lyons briefly mentioned the various local projects that have been part of the Plan. The Oregon Transportation Plan is the overriding document for the seven (7) modal plans. The Policy side of the plan constitutes the modal plan. It is exclusively a policy document. A centralized website will soon be available to access the all the Plan elements and comments can be made through the site. The current Plan was adopted in 1995. The 90 day public comment period opened on Nov. 13, 2015. Design Standards Rules & Regulations and Project Lists have been removed. The OBBP is the biking/pedestrian element of the Oregon TSP, covering the next 25 years.

Over the next three months, ODOT will conduct a series of public outreach throughout the State. Public comment will end on February 18, 2016. ODOT staff and the PAC will review comments, and make recommendation to the Oregon Transportation Commission in spring/summer, 2016.

Rich Rosenthal asked if the OBPP Power Point could be shared with the Policy Committee. The Executive Summary will also be made available to everyone through the website. Ms. Lyons shared that the comments coming in relate to the draft Plan not being strong enough at this point. Bruce Sophie shared his concerns about local bicycle and sidewalk safety issues, and said it was an appropriate time to be addressing these issues. The Plan is designed to prioritize solutions to those issues with respect to Project Lists.

The RVMPO, other agencies, the public are invited to review and comment on the draft.

GHG TARGET RULE REVIEW

In 2011, the Land Conservation and Development Commission (LCDC) adopted greenhouse gas (GHG) emission reduction targets to guide scenario planning by the state's metropolitan areas. The targets – and scenario planning – ask metropolitan areas to evaluate what changes to local and regional land use and transportation plans and programs would be needed to reduce GHG emissions from light vehicle travel by 20% per capita by 2035 – the planning horizon for most regional transportation plans. LCDC committed itself to review the targets in 2015 and decide whether amendments to the targets are warranted. The Target Rule Review report –summarized below reviewed results of scenario planning efforts and new information related to target setting.

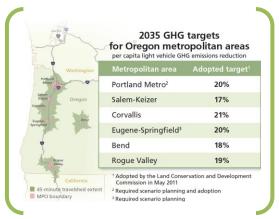

SCENARIO PLANNING RESULTS

Over the last three years, four metropolitan areas (Portland Metro, Eugene-Springfield, Corvallis, and the Rogue Valley) and ODOT (through the Statewide Transportation Strategy) have conducted scenario planning projects. The four efforts reached consistent conclusions:

- Targets, which call for a 17-21% reduction in emissions per capita by 2035, are achievable.
- Meeting targets will require a comprehensive, coordinated strategy that includes a combination of complementary state, regional and local efforts that promote walkable communities and expand transportation options to reduce amount of driving people need to do.
- Substantial efforts and new funding to expand transportation options will be needed to:
 - Expand public transit
 - Provide incentives and price signals to promote options
 - Make walking and cycling more convenient
 - o Promote compact, mixed use development
 - Better manage parking
 - Policies and actions that reduce GHG emissions provide significant benefits to Oregon citizens, businesses, communities and the transportation system because they:

- o reduce household energy and transportation costs
- o improve air quality and public health, and
- o reduce congestion and improve operation of the transportation system
- Existing plans move us in the right direction but additional efforts to expand transit and other transportation options, better manage parking and promote compact land use will be needed to achieve targets.

Metro's Climate Smart Strategy, adopted in December 2014, is expected to reduce GHG emissions by 29%. Metro found: "adopted local and regional plans can meet the state target if we make the investments and take the actions needed to implement those plans and make them a reality.

NEW INFORMATION

Targets were set in 2011 based on direction from the Legislature and available forecasts about greenhouse gas emissions from light duty vehicles through the year 2035. Recent studies and new federal and state laws and programs provide an improved picture of future vehicle technology, fleet and fuels in 2035 and beyond. New information indicates:

- Fuel economy and per mile CO2 emissions are close to 2011 estimates
- Electric cars (EVs) and plug-in hybrids (PHEVs) are expected to come on line faster than previously forecast
- Fleet turnover will be slower than expected

Recalculating targets based on this new information would likely change the targets for 2035 but only slightly. However, metropolitan areas are now starting to look beyond 2035 as they conduct plan updates, with most looking out to 2040. Additional reductions will be needed to keep the state "on track" to meet 2050 goals.

LCDC ACTION AND NEXT STEPS

At its May 2015 meeting the Land Conservation and Development Commission (LCDC) completed its review of the Metropolitan Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Targets Rule. LCDC approved the Target Rule Review Report. It also agreed with the department's recommendation that the target rule should be updated to set targets for the year 2040. Here's a quick summary of the commission's action and next steps:

Targets

The commission determined that amendments to the greenhouse gas reduction targets in OAR 660-044 are warranted based on the findings of the target rule review report. Based on the commission's action, the department will work now with other state agencies (ODOT, DEQ and Energy) to gather the updated technical information that will support setting targets for the year 2040. When more detailed information is available the department will convene an advisory committee to review proposed targets for 2040. The commission agreed that the advisory committee should address whether targets should be set for two newly designated metropolitan areas (Albany Area and Middle Rogue.)

Metropolitan Planning Coordination

The commission also agreed that the department's should work with metropolitan areas, ODOT and other stakeholders to evaluate how scenario planning for GHG reduction can be integrated with other metropolitan area planning work. A key finding of the target rule review report is that scenario planning for GHG reduction is closely related to metropolitan land use and transportation planning. The evaluation will explore how efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from transportation can be better coordinated with related state and federal requirements, such as the TPR requirement for reducing reliance on the automobile and federal MAP-21 requirements for use of "performance measures" in transportation planning.

Advisory Committee

The commission adopted the department's recommendation that a single advisory committee be established to function as the rulemaking advisory committee for the target rule amendments and to review of the process of metropolitan area transportation planning. The advisory committee would likely include an LCDC commissioner, a commissioner from the Oregon Transportation Commission, staff from the Oregon Department of Transportation, a representative from each metropolitan area, other interest groups, and the general public.
